"NM 4213 9727 A cross-slab some 5ft (1.52m) in length, bearing an incised Latin cross at its tapered head, was found in June 1977 at Bagh na h-Uamha on the E coast of Rhum by Mr Derek Peacock, 47 Silverknowes Road, Edinburgh 4 - photo, and reported by Mr J. Keppie of the Dept. of Agriculture and Fisheries, East Craigs, Edinburgh." (ORDNANCE SURVEY RECORD CARD).
 "The slab was found lying on the stony beach about 20 m below high water mark.
 The cross (which may date to the 7th or 8th century) appears to have been originally an equal-armed cross with the vertical arm extended downwards to form a Latin cross.

52. "Bagh na h-Uamha. NM 421 973 NM 49 NW 2"

"A pillar-stone of triangular section 1-3m high bearing an incised equal-armed cross with forked terminations on a short pedestal, probably of 7th century date, was discovered on the beach in 1977 and has been re-erected at the head of the shore. May 1983, Love 1983, 4, 5" (1)
